Dreman Contrarian International Value Fund Receives Lipper Award for Best International Large Cap Core Fund

Fund wins top honors for three-year performance ending December 31, 2011

Jersey City, March 9, 2012 – Dreman Value Management, a leading contrarian value asset management company founded by renowned investor David Dreman, announced today the Dreman Contrarian International Value Fund (DRIVX) received the Lipper award for best international large-cap core fund over 3 years.

The award is for the three-year period ended December 31, 2011, with 90 funds in the international large-cap core funds universe eligible for the distinction. In the three years ended December 31, 2011, the Fund posted an annualized return of 14.82%, outperforming its benchmark by 4.9%.

“We are pleased with the success we have achieved with the Dreman Contrarian International Value Fund,” said E. Clifton Hoover, Chief Investment Officer and the lead portfolio manager of the Fund. “We continue to execute our time-tested investment process that focuses on buying undervalued companies with real earnings and cash flow. Our approach is not about the ‘Hail Mary Pass’, it is about grinding it out quarter after quarter, year after year”.

The Contrarian International Value Fund’s strategy is based on a disciplined, bottom up, low P/E approach to stock selection. The Fund invests in undervalued companies that exhibit strong fundamentals, low debt-to-capital, strong cash flow, dividends and historic earnings growth, which thorough analysis indicates may persist. The strategy seeks these fundamentally strong companies and attempts to avoid speculative stocks and potential bankruptcies that may impair client returns.

Dreman Value Management offers a broad spectrum of value-oriented investment options to institutional clients, pension funds, foundations and endowments, and high-net-worth individuals, and participates in a number of separately managed account programs. Dreman also serves as a sub-advisor to a number of leading open-end mutual fund and variable annuity platforms.
